Every year in May, Ariel's school has a sports day. All the students come to school in white T-shirts, and there are no lessons. This year, the weather was perfect: sunny, but not too hot.

In the morning, Ariel ran in the 100-meter race. He wasn't the fastest, but he finished third and got a medal. Then his class played tug-of-war against Class 5C. It was very hard, because the other team was strong. In the end, Ariel's class won!

At lunchtime, the parents brought watermelon and cold drinks. Ariel was tired, but he was very proud. "Sports day is the best day of the year," he told his mom, "because everybody plays and nobody studies!"
